

BIG BOARD OF TRADE BANQUET

The first general meeting of Macleod and District Board of Trade held last Tuesday evening was a brilliant success from every standpoint. The affair was in the nature of a banquet and get-together social evening, and 46 guests sat down to the luncheon served in the Silver Grill.

A noticeable feature was the number of rural residents in evidence as guests and many of whom placed themselves in membership before the close of the meeting—showing plainly the interest being taken in the organization by the farm residents of this district.

After the guests had dined, Mayor McDonald, president of the Board, most ably occupied the chair, opening the program of speech, song and story with a few opportune and pertinent remarks regarding the objects and aspirations of Macleod and District Board of Trade, and predicting for it a long and useful career of service in the best interests of Macleod and this district. President McDonald then recognized the speakers, who in appropriate response touched on the general features of the future, the present, and the past of Macleod and this district.

THIRD SEMI-MONTHLY CROP REPORT

Issued by Department of Agriculture, Edmonton, Alberta, Friday, June 15, 1923

Generally speaking, the crop situation in Alberta at present date, is more encouraging than in any year since 1915. Practically without exception, all districts report splendid rainfalls within the past two weeks, and there has been a generous supply of moisture over the entire Province. Precipitation has ranged from one and a half to two and a half inches since June 1, in the various districts, with nearly five inches recorded at Calgary. The rains have been accompanied by excellent growing weather.

All grains, as a result, are showing a healthy, vigorous growth. The wheat has reached a height of from six to ten inches, and in some cases twelve and fourteen inches, and is in the shot blade in one or two districts. Oats and barley are above ground and in good condition. Rye is heading out, but will be a light crop. Alfalfa is about ready for the first harvesting in the southern districts and has a very healthy appearance. The heavy rains commenced between two and three weeks ago, first in the south-western district, and later in other sections of the province. Districts which a week ago had not then participated in the general precipitation, now report splendid rainfalls, and the grain growing vigorously.

As a direct result of the encouraging rains, larger areas have been sown than in some years, and the total area in crop in the province, will now exceed that of last year by approximately ten per cent.

Summerfalling is now in progress, although the area will not be great. Prairie grass is more luxuriant than in some years, and livestock is in excellent condition.

Grasshoppers—The serious infestation of grasshoppers this year is confined to the area in the eastern half of the province from the international border to as far north as Coronation. There is also a report of a serious infestation in the Grande Prairie district, but the infestation is not nearly so serious as last year, and although some poisoning has been done, it has not been necessary on anything like the scale of last season. The campaign in the seriously infested areas is well under way, and vigorous steps are being taken to combat the pest.

A few isolated reports of damage from cutworms have been received. Caterpillars are reported in great numbers in the northern parts of the province, but are not a menace to crops, their damage being confined to foliage, chiefly to poplar trees.

MACLEOD DEFEATED AT CLARESHOLM

On Monday the Macleod base ball team journeyed to Claresholm, accompanied by a goodly number of local fans, and engaged the Claresholm bunch in a hardy contested struggle for diamond supremacy. CONTROLLING THE MOSQUITO

The discomfort produced by the mosquito during the early summer months leads not only the scientist but the man on the street to consider whether the pest cannot be controlled. The question often asked, "Of what value is the mosquito?" has not been satisfactorily answered. Fortunately methods of controlling this insect have been discovered and are being applied with greater or less success. Portions of the tropics would, perhaps, never have been made habitable for the white man had not successful mosquito control methods been discovered. The means employed in the tropics have been found applicable to other places.

It has long been understood that the multiplication of the mosquito depends on pools or areas of water. More or less stagnant water, in which the mosquito deposits its eggs, which soon develop into larvae and then into adult insects. The larvae, it has been discovered, are destroyed by contact with an oily substance. The remedy, therefore, is found in applying oil to the breeding places of the insect. A few years ago, working on a considerable area of water. This extremely thin layer is sufficient to destroy all of the larvae that comes in contact with it.

The Entomological Branch of the Federal Department of Agriculture has for several years been working on this problem in British Columbia. Last year the district surrounding the town of Banff in Alberta was dealt with. An area of several miles in extent was surveyed and breeding places were treated. The area treated included open ponds and marshy spots clothed with dense willow growths. The work was done during May and June, when 2,800 gallons of oil were applied. Watering cans and knapsack sprayers were used in spreading the oil, which was sprayed on all water where larvae were found. Coal oil alone was used, as it was feared that, owing to cold nights heavier oil would not become thoroughly distributed. Although a number of inaccessible places were missed, the results of the oiling were very marked. It is estimated that seventy-five per cent of control was realized. In an article describing this work, in the May-June number of The Agricultural Gazette of Canada, the author states that the town of Banff and vicinity was rendered comparatively free from the pest.

GRANUM NEWS

A heavy rainfall descended on this district Monday afternoon, and though lasting only half an hour, the precipitation was .31 inch. The abundant moisture of the last week has somewhat interfered with summerfalling. Farther north, where the soil is heavier, plowing was suspended for two days, the plows falling to "clean" sufficiently.

Jagged chunks of ice fell during a hail storm last week in the hill country west of the town, passing mainly over a ranching country, but obliterating much of the grain in the hill country in its path, besides killing a number of fowl. It shredded the rubberoid roofing of a house occupied by Roy Leppard and thoroughly drenched the furnishings.

HOPPERS ACTIVE

Granum, June 12. — The hoppers are becoming sufficiently active to cause some anxiety and a daily increasing amount of grain is being supplanted at the Granum station. So far they are most active east of town, one farmer four miles out having already had ten acres destroyed by the pest.

EMPRESS THEATRE

CURRENT ATTRACTIONS

'MISSIN' MILLIONS BIG ALICE BRADY THRILLER

Lives there a man with soul so dead who never has thrilled to the melodrama of a finely produced crook photoplay? Is there a picture lover in Macleod who after seeing "Missin' Millions" has not been impressed by the new paramount picture which will be shown at the Empress Theatre next Wednesday and Thursday, will venture the opinion that crook films have no appeal? Not when such a star and such a picture are presented, we confidently predict.

Here's some of the story:
Mary Dawson, the heroine, is a crook and the daughter of a reformed burglar. Every time she makes a haul, however, her kind heart gets the better of her. She gives back the loot, be it diamonds or bullion cubes. Jim Cantwell, double-crossing financier, becomes mixed up in Mary's affairs. She steals his wife's diamonds with the aid of her sweetheart, Boston Blackie. The same night her father, returning from the farm, is arrested by mistake for an attack on Cantwell. Mary promises to return the diamonds if the father is released. Cantwell gets the diamonds but sends Dawson to prison. In revenge Mary plans to steal the bullion cubes which England is sending Cantwell to save him from financial ruin.

The trusting pursuer falls in love with Mary, which permits her to get impressions of the strong room keys. This permits a clean-up. But the pursuer gets the third degree Mary gives away twenty-four thousand, all that remains in the dime savings bank, to her avicious pals. She returns the gold—but what follows the picture reveal.

Beautiful Scenes in William de Mille's "Nice People"

A colorful portion of old Japan forms the background for an important series of scenes in William de Mille's most recent Paramount Picture, "Nice People," which comes to the Empress Theatre Monday and Tuesday next.

The scene is an ultra-modern cafe done in Japanese style. Beautiful Geisha girls serve as check room attendants and cigarette girls; Japanese youths in the costumes of their ancestors fill the attendant positions. Everything except the food, the guests and the music, is Japanese. The first is American, the second is cosmopolitan, and the third is Hawaiian.

The setting is one of the most elaborate and lavish ever constructed

Tourist Traffic will be Heavy
A very heavy tourist traffic to the province from the Western and Pacific States is predicted by C. G. Groff, Publicity Commissioner, who returned last week from a three weeks' trip over the 4,000-mile route of the grand circle through Nevada, Idaho, Utah, Nevada, California, Oregon and Washington. The tour was made in company with officials of the Calgary Board of Trade, who were linking up the Blue Trail, of which the new Banff-Windermere highway forms a fine link. Mr. Groff took occasion during the tour to distribute literature and information concerning the province in general, with respect to its attractions both for tourists and settlers. Keen interest was displayed in the States visited, particularly in Alberta's scenic attractions contained in the Banff and Jasper Parks, and it was found that a great many auto tourists already were planned to visit the province.

What the Heavy Rainfall Means
In this favored year, when Alberta is receiving great rainfalls at the

for the screen. It consists of a spacious entrance hall leading into a large Japanese garden illuminated by Oriental lights and lanterns, dotted with tables and boasting of numerous interesting pieces of Oriental sculpture, vegetation, pergolas and pagodas.

The full structure filled nearly half of the new glass-roofed stage, recently completed at the Lasky studio. This stage is the largest of its kind in the motion picture industry. Approximately two hundred persons were employed in the filming of this series of scenes.

Wallace Reid, Bebe Daniels, Conrad Nagel and Julia Faye are featured and Eve Sothorn, Betram Johns, William Boyd, Claire McDowell and others are prominent in the cast. Clara Beranger adapted the story from Rachel Crothers' successful stage play of the same name.

"GIRL IN THE TAXI" AS SCREEN COMEDY

What promises to be one of the best farce comedies yet produced will be shown at the Empress Theatre Friday and Saturday. It is the latest Mr. and Mrs. Carter DeHaven production, "The Girl in the Taxi," a First National attraction, which follows in the wake of the stars' previous farce comedy, "Twin Beds." The story is an adaptation of the famous musical comedy stage success by Stanislaus Strunge and is directed by Lloyd Ingraham.

According to advance reports the screen version of "The Girl in the Taxi" is one continuous round of laughter. In its many mirth provoking situations it is said to reveal veritable deluge of wholesome humor. Far more provocative of laughter than its stage presentation.

The interest of the story centers around Bertie Stewart and Mignon Smith, played respectively by Mr. and Mrs. Carter DeHaven. Bertie's penchant to embroil people in embarrassing situations, serves to convince his stern parent that he is not the mollycoddle he feared he was. First crack out of the box he steals his father's best clothes and pawns them. Then he hides in a taxi hired by a beautiful young lady, finally he smashes a group of his father's friends in a situation bordering on insanity. How he finally saves the day for them all, and in the process earns a laurel wreath from his stern parent, is said to afford Mr. DeHaven an unusual opportunity to reveal his ability of a farceur of the first magnitude.

COUNCIL SETS 1923 TAX RATE

At the regular semi-monthly meeting of Macleod town council held on Monday evening, June 18th there were present: Mayor J. W. McDonald; Councillors Stevens, Swinerton, Leather, Day and Macleod, and Secretary Brown.

Day-Stevens—That minutes of last preceding regular meeting be adopted as read.—Carried.

Day-Leather—That Macleod public school be paid $11,500 as applied for.—Carried.

Day-Leather—That the Holy Cross separate school be paid $800 as applied for.—Carried.

A communication was read from Mayor Dugan, of Edmonton, president of the Union of Alberta Municipalities, urging the co-operation of municipalities toward the fair distribution of revenue from taxes as between the provincial government and the municipalities. After some general discussion, of which the tenor was that the council believed in the principles set forth but did not wish to go on record to endorse the government in its struggle to raise adequate funds to carry on during times of financial stress, yet the general feeling of the civic body was that municipalities were also suffering the financial stress of the present times, and that the communication should be given the consideration of Macleod Municipal Council.

Swinerton-Leather—That communication from Mayor Dugan re fairer distribution of revenue from taxation as between the provincial government and the Alberta municipalities be and is endorsed by this council.—Carried.

A communication was read from the official auditors verifying the town audit to the end of April, 1923. The Works and Property Committee reported that the land instruments had been sold to the Macleod Band for the sum of $200.

McDonald-Stevens—That action of Works and Property Committee in selling of band instruments be approved.—Carried.

Mayor McDonald in speaking with reference to the petition recently presented to the council and asking that the Early Closing By-Law be amended, stated that the petition failed to specify changes wished for and was concerned with the council in the opinion that the petition be referred back to petitioners with the request that changes desired in Early Closing By-Law be stated.

Day-Leather—That accounts passed by Finance Committee be paid.—Carried.

Chas. Hammerley, president of Macleod Agricultural Society, came before the council with a request for a grant to cover expense of putting up fences at the Exhibition grounds. Mr. Hammerley stated that the material necessary would cost about $50. Mayor McDonald stated that the estimates for 1923 expenditures only estimated $125 in connection with the agricultural society and the farmers shelter, and that after insurance on the buildings was paid and necessary repairs made to the farmers shelter only about $50 were left available as a grant or guarantee for expenditure in behalf of the agricultural society.

Leather-Stevens—That expenditure of $50 for fencing for agricultural society be authorized.—Carried.

In connection with the above Councillor Leather believed that posts could probably be supplied by town from old stock on hand.

Day-Leather—That By-Law No. 378, setting tax rate for 1923, be passed as read a third time.—Carried.

The tax rate for 1923 as set forth in By-Law No. 378 works out to 70 mills for separate school supporters, and 66 mills for public school supporters.

Chief Engineer Oliver reported that recent floods had washed out about one-quarter of a mile of the water intake pipe at the power house, and that in replacing same considerable work would be involved in removing gravel and sand drifted up by high water over the intake pipe line. The expense of repair work would be cut considerably by the fact that the new channel from which water would be taken was much nearer the power house than heretofore. Mr. Oliver stated that the water supply was not at present threatened, nor would be till the high water had receded two feet, and that arrangements were made to insure continuous supply of water while repairs to intake were being effected.

Mayor McDonald commended Mr. Oliver highly on his efficient handling of the difficult situation at the power house caused by the recent floods.

The committee in charge of fire protection improvements reported that the new motor fire truck would be in operation July 1st.

Macleod-Swinerton—That Councillor Ridley be allowed reasonable quarters at fire hall with free light, water and heat.—Carried.

Day-Stevens—Adjournment.

STANDING ARMIES

Toward the close of 1918 the Great War ended with Germany submitting to the terms of the Armistice which deprived her of the power to continue the struggle. It is now the middle of 1923, and a survey of the European armies might indicate that the nations of the earth are about to gather for another Armageddon. Indeed, lovers of peace might almost despair of the globe, and accept the savage doctrine that man is a fighting animal by instinct and that there will never come a time when countries will not settle their differences in the court of arms.

Nothing was believed more intensely by the mass of people in all the belligerent countries than that one result of the peace would be the dissolution of great armies. Yet, according to figures quoted by Sir Frederick Maurice, in the Contemporary Review, the strength of the standing armies of Europe in 1913 was 3,745,179 men while now, four and a half years after the end of the war, their strength is 4,354, 965. The figures seem the more shocking when one reflects that the armies of Germany, Hungary and Bulgaria, which a short time ago were the terror of Europe, have shrunk to mere police forces numbering fewer than 700,000. Obviously it is not our late enemies who continue to keep huge standing armies bleeding the taxpayer's white and ready for the war at a day's notice.

Apart from Turkey and Russia the nations that are maintaining these huge armies are members of the League of Nations, and subscribe to Article VIII in the Covenant of the League of Nations, which says that "the members of the League recognize that the maintenance of peace requires the reduction of national armaments to the lowest point consistent with national safety." In plain words, this means precisely nothing. At no time has any nation kept an army larger than those in command of the army considered to be necessary for the national safety. The vast armies of Russia and Germany were thus justified. Russia is keeping a huge standing army to-day on the pretext that the Communist revolution is "threatened" and that unless there is a maximum of preparedness the old Czarist regime may be re-established. Naturally enough, Russia's neighbors cannot remain supine in the face of the menace constituted by the "Red" army. Thus it is that one nation by arming itself heavily may force similar arming upon every other nation in Europe. Britain has honestly reduced her fleet in accordance with the promises made at the Washington Conference, while the French development in airships has given that nation a greater relative strength compared with Britain than at any other time in more than one hundred years. However, the League of Nations is, for the most part, composed of men genuinely dedicated to the cause of international peace, and its Temporary Mixed Commission is now at work upon a plan which Gen. Maurice believes may be practicable: "It is intended to make the guarantees provided by Article X definite and precise by the addition of a treaty which will limit the world-wide obligations of that article to continents. For example, the nations of Europe will be asked to guarantee each other against aggressions, but will not be required to undertake to send troops to the continents of Asia Africa or America."

THE GERMAN INDEMNITIES

Not long ago Germany offered $1,000,000,000 as a total sum to compensate Allied claims for indemnities. The total fixed by the Versailles Treaty was for about $30,000,000,000. The offer of the German was a half billion, when the war losses of the main Allied countries exceeded this by many times, was absurd. The Germans have been forced, by the occupation of the Ruhr, and by their obviously squeezed international position, to consider practical methods of paying indemnities. The raising of large German credits in francs or sterling is regarded as impossible, but a system of annuities, instead of capital borrowings, is now favored in Berlin.

The new German note proposes to mortgage the German national railway system for ten billion marks giving debentures on it to the Allies who will thus collect 500,000,000 gold marks yearly. National industry and commerce—land, factories, etc.—are to be mortgaged to yield another 500,000,000 gold marks. Luxury taxes are to yield 500,000,000 gold marks. This would be equivalent to the payment of about $300,000,000 a year. It is not beyond possibility in these days. In 1871 France raised nearly a billion dollars in a year and a half for the German indemnity, and a billion then was as good as five billions, now. In war-time, Britain raised national war loans of five billions at a time if the German people really desired they could raise five billions to-morrow. But they do not want to raise money for indemnities. Every method of raising money or obtaining credit is tried, while the individual German seeks to get his wealth placed abroad where it cannot be touched by government levy. The root of the difficulty is not German inability to pay reasonable indemnities, but German unwillingness to take the bitter medicine of defeat.

The new German note marks some progress in the reparations discussion. It is not satisfactory either to Britain or France, but it marks another mile-post on the way to a settlement. If the Allies insist on an inventory of all German national assets, and compel the setting aside of part of wealth therein for indemnity purposes, plus a share in the yearly earnings of Germany they may, in the end, get enough to cover their own direct losses. It would take 40 years for Germany to pay one-third of the Versailles reparation sum, at the rate now mentioned, but there are other sources such as Customs receipts, bank resources, etc., open to collection methods, and Premier Stanley Baldwin as a big business man is likely to tackle this issue in vigorous style before 1923 has passed into history.

RED ROUTE NOW PASSABLE TO FERNIE

Fernie, B. C., June 18.—According to reports received at the headquarters of the Southern Alberta and Southwestern B. C. Tourist Association here this morning, the highway through the Crow's Nest Pass route is now open to automobile traffic, and is in good shape, except for a few short stretches between Calgary and Macleod, and a detour at Crow's Nest. The detour is passable with careful driving, but it is expected that it will only be necessary to use the detour for a short time. Roads from Crow's Nest west are in excellent condition.

RIVERS HIGH AGAIN AT CALGARY

Calgary, June 14.—At 2.30 o'clock Thursday morning the Bow River reached its maximum flood level in Calgary, three inches higher than the flood of two weeks past, but still 16 inches under its high water mark of 1915.

"OH TOUCH THOSE STRINGS!"

Oh touch those strings while I am near!
Oh touch those strings!
And let my waking dream hear
Those melting tones—so soft, so dear—
To which it clings.

Oh touch those strings, in moonlit hours!
Then—woo those strings
Where shady trees and fragrant flowers
Enclose enchanted, silent bowers.
She haunting sings.

The passing years cannot erase,
Nor time efface
That sweet love thrill—it lingers still
And I embrace that vanished face
With rapturous thrill.

But hush thy harp to whispers low;
Wake not her sleep.
Stay not my tears, for they must flow;
Those sounds revive the embers glow—
My heart feels deep.

But why those tears? 'Tis all in vain
No joy or grief—That pulseless form again.
Thy harp may strike its wildest strain;
Those eyes are dust,
Those ears are deaf.

NEW C. P. R. ROUTE TO COAST

Edmonton, June 14.—That the Canadian Pacific Railway company is contemplating the construction of a direct outlet for the Peace River country at a cost of from $30,000,000 to $50,000,000, is the conclusion reached by the Edmonton Journal after thorough investigation of the person and various survey parties now at work in central and northern British Columbia and the nature of the surveys they are making.

Two alternative routes are being investigated—one due west from Spirit River to a point on the Portnevo canal north of Prince Rupert; the other southwest to connect with the main line of the C. P. R. at Kamloops or Lytton. Either route would involve an extension of the Peace River-Beryn line through the country north of Peace River to the vicinity of Hudson's Hope, where it would cross the Peace River on a high level bridge and join the main line from Spirit River.

HOW COLONIES GOT
"E PLURIBUS UNUM."

Whence came the motto on the golden scroll in the beak of the bald-headed eagle on the Seal of the United States? "Out of many, one," in Latin, turned out to be a mighty good description of the United States, though the plurality was often more manifest than the unity. As almost everybody in the country has that much Latin, the pedigree of the phrase is interesting, aside from its patriotic significance. In a pamphlet, reprinted from the Classical Journal for April, Mr. Monroe E. Deutsch of the University of California gives the result of a careful investigation. Franklin, Adams and Jefferson, appointed by the Continental Congress, July 4, 1776, a committee to devise a Seal of the United States, recommended in their report in August the motto "E Pluribus Unum." The report also, says the New York Times. New committees pondered the Seal. A new motto was proposed. "E Pluribus" doesn't swim into our ken until some time between June 13 and June 20, 1782, the latter the date of the adoption of the Seal. Charles Thomson, Secretary of Congress, restored the motto. Who suggested it and what was its source? The most common theory, in Mr. Deutsch's opinion "exceedingly well grounded," is that the motto comes from the legend on the title page of The Gentleman's Magazine, published by Edward Cave, Jr., our old friend "Sylvanus Urban, Gent." The first number was printed in 1731. On the title page "was a drawing of a hand holding a bouquet of flowers, to the left of the bouquet being the words 'Prodesse et Delectare' (to benefit and amuse), and to the right 'E Pluribus Unum.' The latter was taken over from The Gentleman's Journal 1691-94, edited by the Huguenot Motteux, that glorious translator of "Don Quixote" and, with Sir Thomas Urquhart, of Rabelais. Motteux said that the implication of "E Pluribus Unum" was that, "Tho' only one of the many Pieces were acceptable, it might gratify every reader." So "One chosen from many" must have been his translation. Sylvanus Urban's organ in 1734 has another the modern interpretation. There are the concluding lines of a "poem" on the legend:

To your motto true
For our monthly inspection,
You mix various rich sweets
In one fragrant collection.

The Gentleman's Magazine and its legend were familiar in the Colonies. Considering its origin, however, how did the committee employ the phrase in a so much more dignified association? A letter from Thomson, four days after the adoption of the Seal, speaks of the present to himself of Fortescue's "On the Praises of the Laws of England"—in Latin. In this book Mr. Deutsch finds the phrase "E pluribus constitutus unum." "One is formed out of many," in reference to a government. Fortescue also refers to Aristotle's "Politics." So Fortescue's phrase comes, like most everything else, out of Aristotle. "Out of many one," in Greek. The children of Israel in the wilderness, led by a cloud by day and a pillar of fire by night; and on the other side Hengist and Horsa, the Saxon chiefs from whom we claim the honor of being descended.

The motto is on du Simitieri's sketch, but isn't mentioned in Adams' account of it nor does the fact that he drew the sketch prove that he proposed the motto, as a foreigner would be unlikely to do. Jefferson was interested in mottos, as in everything, but there is no proof that he had anything to do with "E Pluribus." Moreover, his favorite device for an American Seal was the Father in Aescop giving the bundle of rods to his sons with the motto, in Latin, "Unconquerable if inseparable." In Franklin's case, we know that the committee accepted his design and motto for the other side of the Seal, while those of Adams and Jefferson were rejected. He had picked up sufficient Latin; and there is plenty of it in his works. As early as 1754 he was busy with mottos indicating the union of the Colonies. The one then suggested by him was the "figure of a snake separated into parts, to each of which is affixed the initial of one of the Colonies; and at the bottom in large capital letters the motto 'Join or die.'"

A very curious design, Doctor. He had a number of contributions in The Gentleman's Magazine frequently referring to it; in 1765 offered to be its Philadelphia circulation agent. His nephew, Benjamin Mecom, started in 1758 a short-lived publication called The New England Magazine of Knowledge and Pleasure. Only two copies are known. It had both mottos of The Gentleman's Magazine. In 1775 Franklin proposed anonymously, as a motto for the Seal, "Rebellion to tyrants is obedience to God," pre- tending that the phrase came from the epitaph of the regicide, Bradshaw. If he did that, Mr. Deutsch argues, he wouldn't have any scruples about taking a national motto from the title page of an English magazine; and that Eng- lish magazine in 1776, the year the motto was selected, published a poem very sympathetic with the Americans and foreseeing the time when:

Our sons, beneath yon Western skies Shall see one vast republic rise.
So Dr. Franklin must have been the man. If he was, he may have chuckled at borrowing the legend from the then enemy. Still, the proof isn't, perhaps, impregnable. Mr. Deutsch thinks it likely that old Motteux got the phrase he modified from Horace's (or de) pluribus una.

Hill Spring News

Mrs. Becky Gibb left here last Friday for Salt Lake City, Utah, where she will stay a month visiting with her father Mr. Van Brown who is sick.

The Hill Spring "M" Men Baseball team played a practice game with Glenwood ball players at Glenwood last Saturday evening. The game resulted in a score of 7-to-10 in favor of Glenwood.

The Mountain View boys from 12-14 years came to Hill Spring last Saturday and played a game of ball with the younger boys here. The results were 4- to 20 in favor of Hill Spring.

Miss Ida Cox of Twin Butte who has been quite sick at Hill Spring returned home last week. Ida has been attending school here but is now unable to take the exams that are near at hand.

The High Priests of this ward attended a meeting at Glenwood last Sunday.

Mr. Wallace Hurd presided at the Sacrament Meeting last Sunday afternoon. This was on account of the absence of the Bishop and his Councilors.

The "Sea Gull Girls" gave a surprise party for Lena Gibb on her 13th birthday June 11th. All report a pleasant time.

The U. I. D. Co. is furnishing Timothy seed for the farmers to sow along the ditches to keep down the weeds.

Some of our people attended the Chautauqua at Cardston last week and report a most excellent time.

Road work has commenced on the grade across the Indian Reservation South west of Hill Spring.

Mr. Leland Brower of Blackie is visiting his uncle B. B. Andrus of Hill Spring.

Dave Steed of Cardston has moved his stock of goods out of the Hill Spring store and Mr. Henry Gibb has put in a stock of groceries here.

Mrs. Gwen Tanner returned on Sunday from Sterling where she spent the week with her husband who is travelling with the Chautauqua.

Miss Marian McLean of Raymond is visiting here with her sister Mrs. Henry Gibb.

Grain is looking splendid here. There is still some green feed being sown. The recent rains seem to insure good crops of all kinds. Some are starting to summer fallow. Weeds are growing thick and fast. The beats planted by some of the people are doing quite nicely.

We have had a rainstorm almost every day for the past few weeks. The farmers have got a good deal of summerfallowing done around here, and as for the rest of crop affairs, all the other grounds are lying still.

Quite a sensation was produced Saturday morning about 3 o'clock. Spencer Grow had been having a skunk bothering his chickens for some time, so he set a trap for it. This was in the west side of town and as the wind was coming in this direction all the town was aware of it the minute the skunk was caught and quite a number of the people had to leave home.

Mr. J. B. Merrill has established an experimental farm on his place this year. A government man is irrigating his wheat land and experimenting on crop growing under irrigation. This is the only place in the district where irrigation has started.

Hill Spring played a league game of baseball with Glenwood on Wednesday. The game was quite exciting from each side. For Hill Spring this means that they have not lost a single league game this summer, if they keep up their good name for two more games they will have won the league for this division.

The Primary Association gave a dance for the Primary children on Wednesday evening. Mrs. Agnes Coombs played for the children under 12 years from 4 o'clock to 6. And the Sea Gull girls had a dance from 6 to 8, p. m. Ice cream was sold and a very good time was had by all.

The Junior Baseball boys played a game with Glenwoodville on Thursday. The game was not very successful as all the players were not there. The game ended in a score of 7-9 in favor of Glenwood.

MOUNT ETNA IN ERUPTION

Catania, Sicily, June 18.—Hurling thousands of tons of flaming lava high into the sky from its main crater while fire new centers are belching molten destruction, with reports like those of a thousand cannon, Mount Etna is in eruption and already has destroyed five villages and threatens a score of others.

A great wall of molten lava, 30 to 40 feet in height, slid over the spot where the little town of Lingua Gioiosa had stood, and advanced in a flaming line, 300 yards across, upon neighboring hamlets.

The village of Boscoragata disappeared. Two entire townships Feroppeccolo and Pallamellata were obliterated by the advancing wall of lava.

Peasants Flee For Lives
Inhabitants of the threatened towns, warned for days by rumblings and mutterings of the great mountain volcano, fled to safety in time; no casualties have been reported, but roads are clogged with rude carts and peasants and their families staggering along beneath loads of household belongings, snatched from in front of the fiery mass that inundated their homes.

Growing in Volume
The out-pouring from Etna's old and new craters grows in volume each hour. Thousands of new crevices, when the flaming lava issues come to watchers on distant hills through the dense black smoke that hangs over the mountain top. Now and then great bursts of flame shoot high above the inky pall and flare against the sky, lighting the haze with a red glow.

Sicilians Terrified
At each new demonstration of the awakening giant, new flights are begun by the terrified Sicilians. The lava pours down the mountain sides and over the surrounding country at terrific speed. A line of railroad has gone under; the station at Castiglione burst into flames and then was buried in lava.

Recall Days of Pompeii
As in the days of old Pompeii, the terror of the volcano has communicated itself to the countryside for miles around. Cattle and sheep are being driven in great herds from the direction of Etna. The populace fills the streets and nearby towns even of those at a safe distance. No work is being done.

RUPTURE EXPERT HERE

SEELEY, FAMOUS IN THIS SPECIALTY, CALLED TO LETHBRIDGE

F. H. Seeley, of Chicago and Philadelphia, the noted truss expert, will personally be at the Lethbridge Hotel, and will remain in Lethbridge Wednesday only June 27. Mr. Seeley says: "The Spermatic Shield will not only retain any case of rupture perfectly, but contracts the opening in 10 days on the average case. Being a vast advancement over all former methods—exemplifying instantaneous effects immediately appreciable and withstanding any strain or position no matter the size or location. Large or difficult cases, or incisional ruptures (following operations) specially solicited. This instrument received the only award in England and in Spain, producing results without surgery, injections, medical treatments or prescriptions. Warning—All cases should be cautioned against the use of any elastic or web truss with undertraps, as same rest where the lump is and not where the opening is, producing complications necessitating surgical operations. Mr. Seeley has documents from the United States Government, Washington, D. C., for inspection. He will be glad to demonstrate without charge or fee them if desired. Business demands prevent stopping at any other place in this section.

F. H. Seeley statement in this notice has been verified by the Federal and State Courts—F. H. Seeley, 2000 Madison St. N. W., Washington, D. C.

CANADIAN COWBOY SHIRTS STAMPED

Coming Event Promoted to Help Anything Newsmen Attempted in Frontier Celebrations.

That the Calgary Exhibition, Stampede and Buffalo Barbecue scheduled to be held the week of July 9th to 14th will outdistance anything of a like nature that has ever been on the North American continent, seems now to be an assured fact.

First of all, there is no place in the West that has natural location, with such scenic embellishments, right at its door, the historical data to work upon, such as the Hudson's Bay Company's frontier activities, the honored traditions of the Royal North West Mounted Police, the native reservations practically at the city limits, the cowmen in their picturesque work, and last but not least, the great number of old timers, both men and women, who still live in the vicinity; men and women who are the actual pioneers of this Last Best West; whose untiring efforts and strenuous undertakings in a primitive country are the real cause of the wonderful development that has been attained in this country in comparatively few short years.

From the time of the stupendous Stampede parade on Monday morning, July 9th, until the feed of buffalo meat cooked in deep pits over a roaring fire Saturday night, July 14th, Calgary will really turn back to the good old days for one glorious week.
Citizens will wear cowboy attire and the main streets will be reserved during the mornings for saddle horses, Indian cayuses, chuck-wagons, cowboys and cowgirls.

The parade alone will be well worth going a thousand miles to see, illustrating the old West, and the Indians, up to present day development. On the grounds, the Hudson's Bay Company are erecting a permanent log trading post; the Southern Alberta Old Timers' Assn. and the Royal Canadian Mounted Police Veterans' Assn. are each erecting permanent log headquarters. These will be surrounded by Red River carts, Indian tipis and a real Indian village.

The event is to crown the Canadian champions in the various cowboy sports, also Provincial champions, for which generous cash prizes are offered, as well as the grandest list of special prizes ever offered for any sporting event. The special prizes include sterling silver horses and cigaret case presented by H. R. H.
The Prince of Wales, magnificent trophies from Mary Pickford and Douglas Fairbanks, buffalo heads and robes, saddles, etc.

That week Calgary will celebrate the opening of the Banff-Windermere Highway, and will pay tribute to the pioneer cattlemen of the North West in a way that will be a surprise to the thousands of visitors from a distance. Special free accommodation bureau will be maintained at the station, so that there should be no difficulty in procuring accommodation. Those wishing to camp will find an ideal free auto camp with every convenience placed at their disposal.

Genuine Sporting Event
No stronger guarantee could be offered, that the competitions will be conducted in a fair and impartial manner, that judges will be men of sterling character and a thorough knowledge of the events they are to judge, than the following names of the Stampede committee—P. Burns, chairman; George Lane, A. E. Cross, A. J. McLean, the Big Four of the 1912-19 Stampede; in addition
D. E. Riley of High River, president of the Western Stock Growers' Assn., J. W. Cahill of the Alberta Stock Yards, E. J. Dewey, E. D. Adams, Fred Johnston and N. J. Christie of the Calgary Exhibition Board.

Prize list, illustrated folder and full information may be obtained by writing E. L. Richardson, Exhibition Manager, or Guy Weadick, Stampede Manager, Calgary, Canada.

In the case of Willson vs. Creelman and Verge, heard in the district court last Thursday before Judge Macdonald, the action was dismissed, each party to the suit paying own costs.
J. W. McDonald, K. C., for Creelman & Verge; R. F. Barnes for Willson.

In test made in 1922 of oats, barley, rye, and mixtures of these, compared with rape, the barley produced the greatest gains but the time during which pasture was available on it was comparatively short and growth was so rapid that the hogs wasted a good deal of it by trampling. Rape was next in order of profit produced, and excelled all the grains in the length of time pasture was available, so that it may be taken as being the most suitable of any of the pastures in the comparison. Oats and barley, mixed together, was the next in order of profit; and the oats alone followed closely. All these pastures were palatable and gave good returns. The addition of rye to either the barley or oats increased the length of time pasture was available, but seemed to decrease palatability and, as a result, the profit per acre derived from their use.

A large number of other crops make fair hog pastures but the seed of those used is readily available anywhere and they are sufficiently valuable to make them profitable for use wherever hogs are raised.

A narrow mind is one that has not had wide experience.
